Truth Brings Hearts Together. . .

It is hard for many, in the year 1964, to sift the truth from the falsehoods infused by the modern "isms." We Americans, far more fortunate than those we often ignore, sometimes cannot understand why others are hidden from truth's light.

Since America has been blessed with a truth untainted, it is the duty of each citizen to spread this light to others less fortunate. We must hold the light high, as many great Americans have done before us and continue to do in our present day.

Only by example, courage, and fortitude can we replace the false ideas instilled in the minds and hearts of our fellow men. We must help others to seek a richer life through freedom. Only in the light of truth can we expect these people to see the error of Communism.

... Molds Youth For Life

In Adult World. .

Today's teen-ager has learned the meaning of truth from the world and the friends she grew up with. Her parents, teaching the distinction between right and wrong, were the first, and, without a doubt, the most influential truth-bearers. Later, the sisters, priests, and lay teachers helped broaden this scope—from the first grade on through twelfth. From simple bits of knowledge, the student built a foundation that would last a lifetime.

High school has given her reasons for the generally accepted truths of youth. During these years, guided by a strong faith and able leaders, she can often challenge, examine, and verify principles of action and right conduct.

High school and its resources, taken seriously, can firmly establish a girl in the most important part of living—the acceptance of truth.

... Inspires Love For Society ...

The friendly handclasp, the carefree laughter, the neighborly collection of girls in the locker area—these are the amicable signs of social truth. This is the art of living together, sharing thoughts and understanding others' feelings.

School days are filled with new acquaintances and occasions for personal, social betterment. From the slightest blush of embarrassment to the congratulatory wishes of a special honor, students learn the ways of social truth.

In a similar manner, academic endeavors lead to a brighter vision of life's why's and how's. The "rugged" quarter exams, the drudging hours of homework, the extra-credit assignments—these make the mind pliable, eager, adventuresome in the world-wide search for truth.

Science is a constant search for the truth. Sister Mary Jeanette, Susan Bottles, Aline Clark, Susan Szykowny and Pat Wilcox show special interest

God is an immense truth. In His Almighty wisdom, He allows us to see only a glimpse of His light in our short lifetime. The "who made us?" questions of childhood were the first flickers of truth's bright light. Each succeeding question and each succeeding year developed this tiny flame and instilled in us a burning love of God, through the understanding of His truth.

Since God is all truth, man has learned to depend more and more upon Him. He, because He lacks human weaknesses, is the only one who will not fail us. We need God to live by.

SISTER MARY SCHOLASTICA, R.S.M.

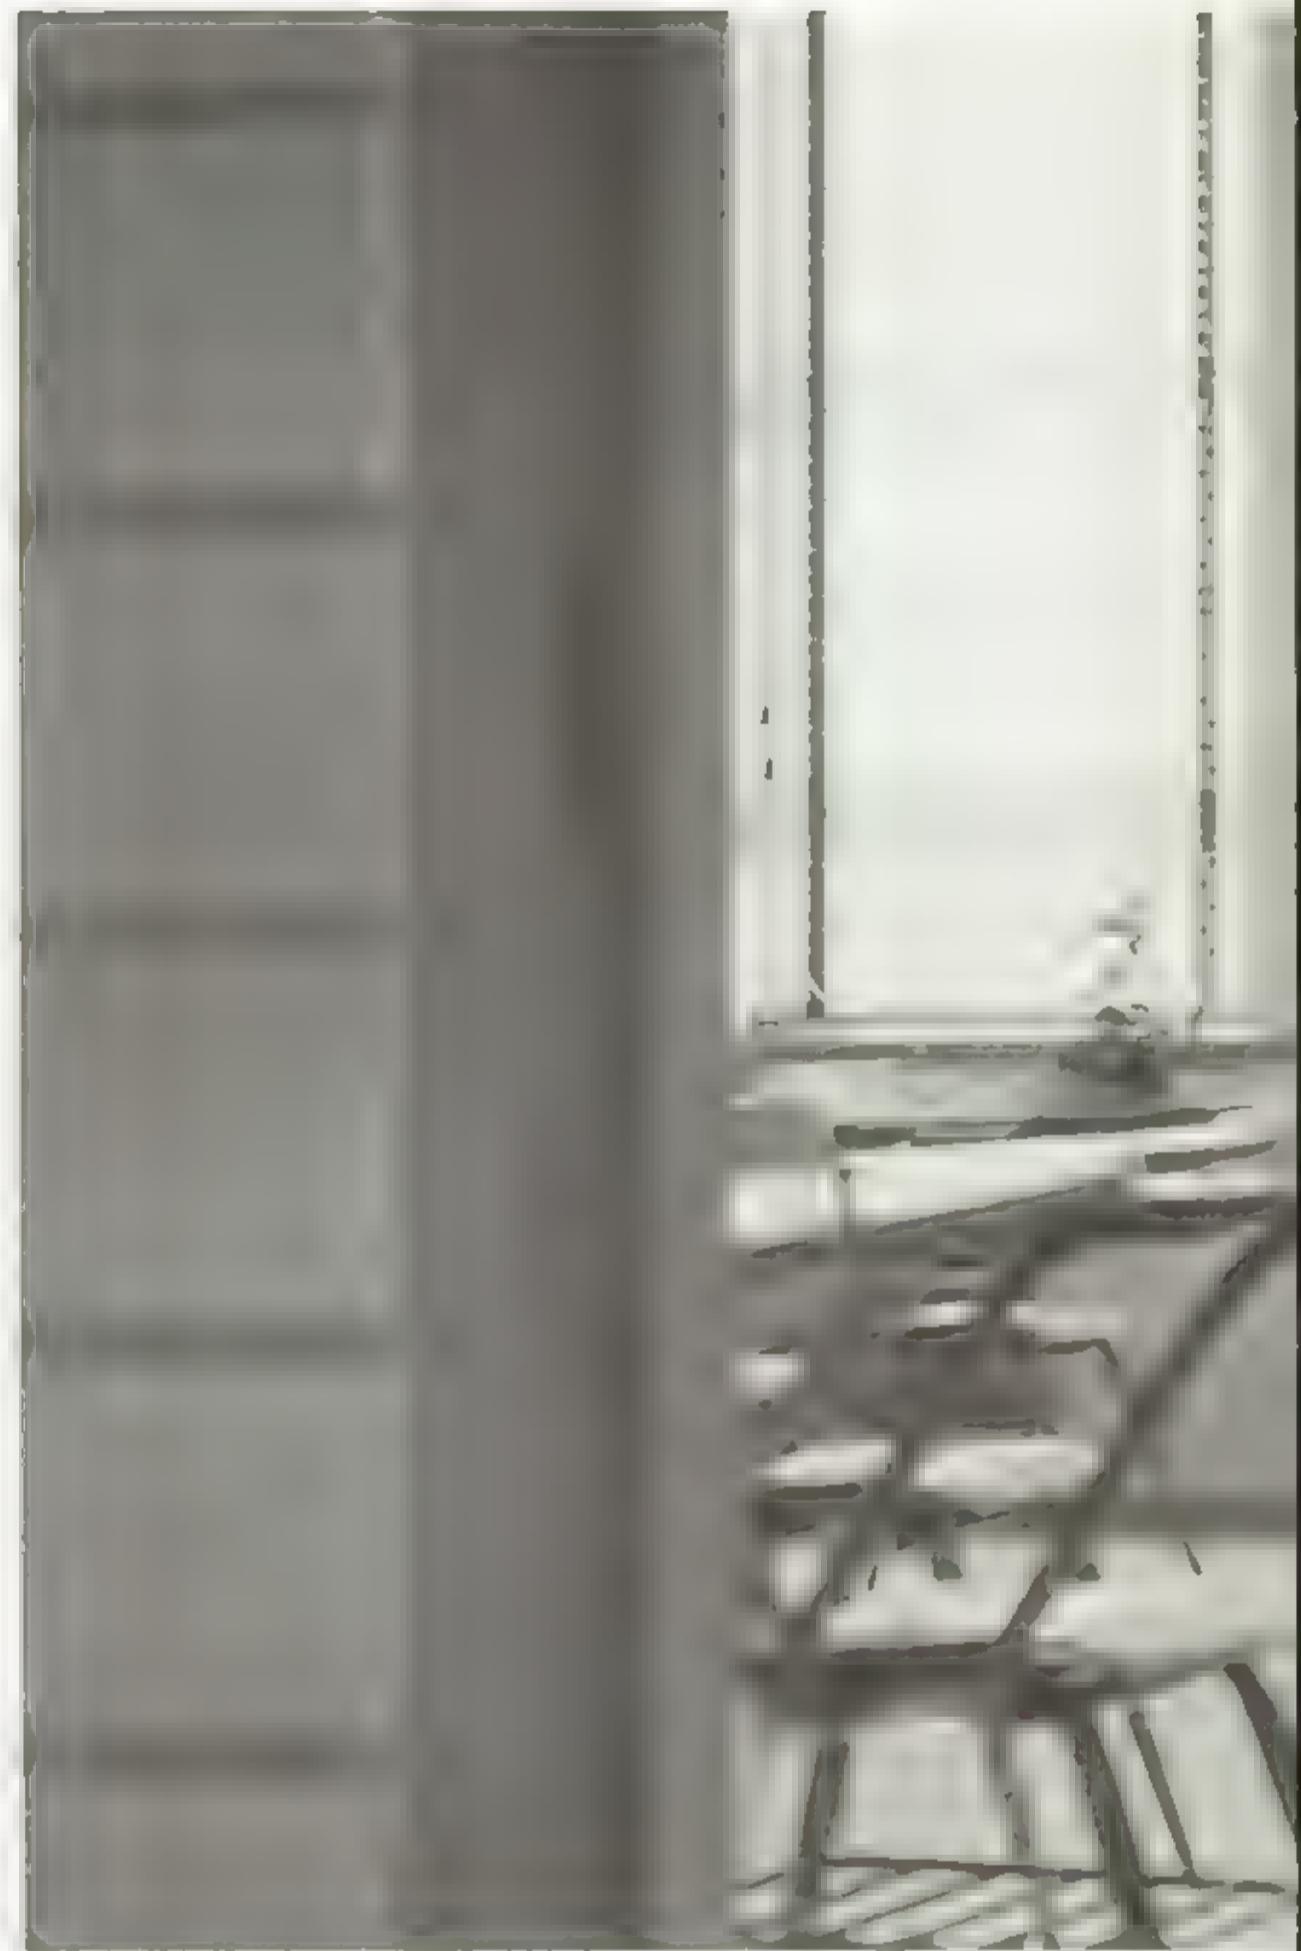

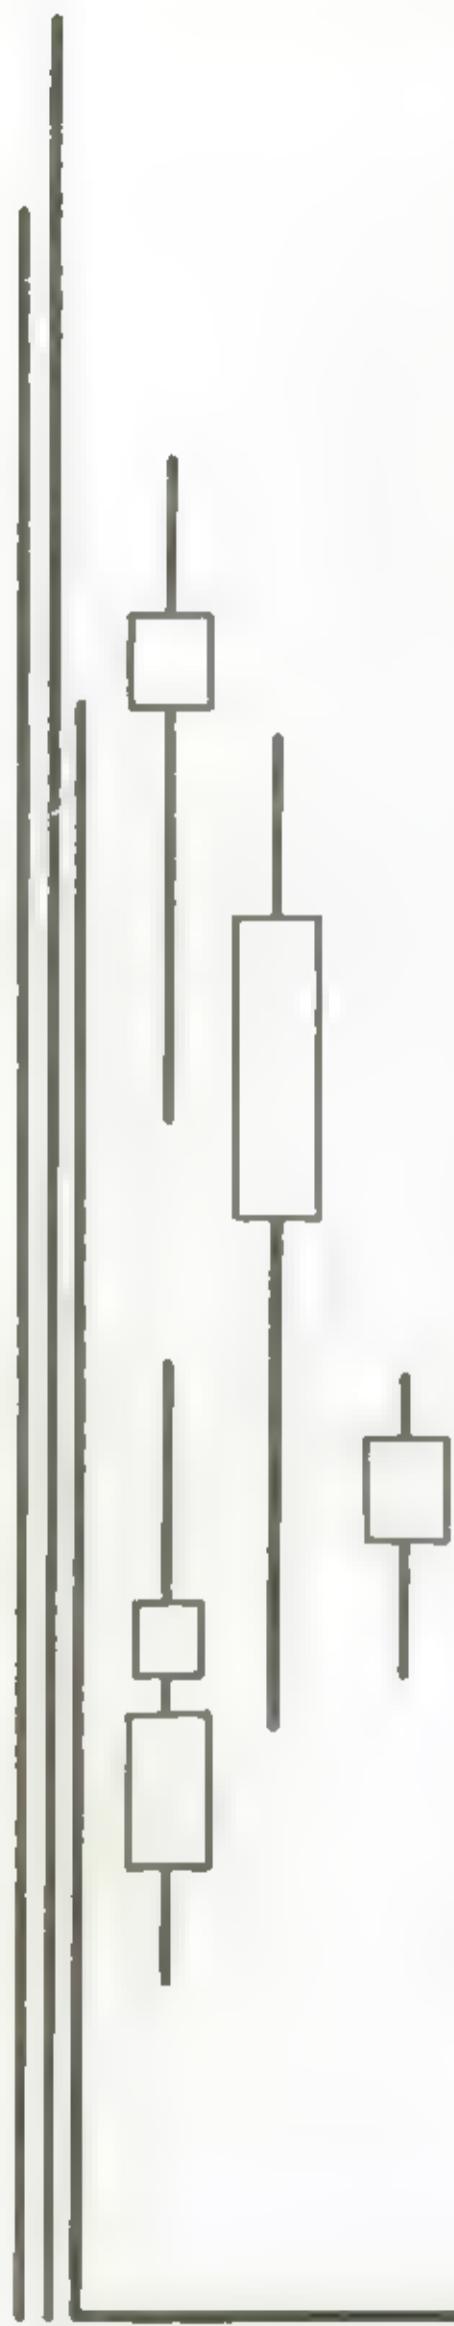

Sister Mary Scholastica has long been a prominent leader of the Sisters of Mercy of the Toledo diocese. Beginning her career of leadership in 1930, Sister became assistant superior of the Sisters of Mercy of the diocese and also held the position of community school supervisor.

In 1936 Sister Mary Scholastica assumed the role of Provincial Procurator. Later as Mother Provincial of the Cincinnati Province, 1952-1958, she gave the help and encouragement needed for the dream that was to be fulfilled in the establishment of McAuley High School.

Sister has continued to show wholehearted interest, as first superior of McAuley convent and as school treasurer, and has devoted her every endeavor toward the growth and excellence of McAuley.

Thus, in gratitude to one to whom all McAuleyans owe much, we dedicate the 1964 Gilmarian to Sister Mary Scholastica, R.S.M.

When a girl needs leadership, when a girl needs good example, she looks to the administrators of her school for the qualities that characterize an outstanding Christian woman. A woman who will be able to consider and make correct decisions on any problem with which she may be faced in later years. Devoting their lives to the guidance and education of students, McAuley's administrators radiate the true spirit of mercy. They try to impress upon their students the necessity for a well-rounded character, both intellectually and religiously. These dedicated Sisters, although kept busy with planning the curriculum and activities of the school, still find time to grant individual attention to each student. Attention which they know is vital to the well-being of every individual.

The student's academic progress is not all that is taken into consideration. A program for one's religious, physical, and social needs must also be planned and correlated into a McAuleyan's schedule. Such activities as Student Council dances, classroom intramural games, and retreats are planned for students. Clubs, too, are initiated so that everyone may have a chance to participate.

By offering a wide variety of subjects to the student, and by sponsoring many extra-curricular activities, the Sisters and lay teachers mold not only the intellectual facet, but the whole personality of each girl.

Art Appreciation Instills Love of Life

The all-American girl of today loves life. Playgoer, actress, and artist, she finds time to appreciate the finer things. Sports and activities do not dominate her schedule. A Shakespearean play, that long awaited assembly, participation in the Drama Club performance, visits to the Art Museum — all have a special place in her yearning for culture.

Never will the Modern Miss be bored. Life is a challenge. She will love "sitting on top of the world" because that is where she belongs.

Cultural Arts Clinch Education

Each McAuleyan is educated by her school to become a well-rounded individual. Not just interested in perfecting herself in her chosen field of work, she seeks to learn all she can about many subjects. It is not unusual for a McAuleyan to be studying such different courses as religion, science, and language.

Religion, of course, is required for each student, but a girl who wishes to be fully educated welcomes the opportunity to learn more about her faith. She is interested not only in worldly topics, but spiritual ideas as well.

A future-minded McAuleyan studies science gladly, in order to complete her education. A science, such as physiology, helps a student understand the laws of nature.

A student also studies a language. French is only one of several languages from which she can choose. Not content with studying grammar, she learns as well the culture of the country.

"Direct we beseech Thee, O Lord, our actions . . ." This plea for guidance opens each class, for McAuleyans realize that without God's assistance they cannot succeed in their endeavors. This realization of God's importance in their lives leads many McAuleyans to seek a closer union with their Creator through membership in the Queen's Apostolate. By prayer and projects, such as the Mission Variety Show and the Christmas Post Office, the members of this organization promote sanctification among themselves and less fortunate people of the world.

Within the Queen's Apostolate is Our Lady Star of the Sea Sodality, whose members possess a strong love for and devotion to Mary. Retreats and days of recollection direct the Sodalists to fulfillment of their motto "To God through Mary."

Thus, through the religious organizations, McAuleyans advance much closer to their ultimate goal, God.

The Existence Of a Nation Depends On World Affairs

Is history dull? Not at McAuley! With panels, debates, and a variety of other projects, the social studies classes are anything but dull.

Most freshmen launch into this study of the past with world history. They discover how and why nations have risen and fallen, developed and degenerated.

American history students delve into the history of America—her people, places, and events. It becomes evident that history is not dead but is a vital part of the present.

The influence of the past upon the present is recognized in national problems classes. Students realize that the problems of today developed from the events of yesterday.

Through this social studies program, McAuley prepares her students for the responsibilities of citizenship in a nation and a world molded by the past.

Who is better acquainted with the joys and sorrows of learning English than the English student herself? Ask one and watch the facial expressions as she gives a brief resume of "lit" and grammar class. Her eyes light as she recalls the hours of enjoyment of seeing and listening to a great classic at the theatre, such as Shakespeare's "Mid-Summer Night's Dream." Or the time she received an award for writing the best poem. However, her eyes lose some of their sparkle when she recalls how she stayed up until 1 a.m. in her junior year to complete her first term paper—or the many incomplete assignments. Her memories are not of literature class alone; grammar is very much a part of her everyday life. She takes pride in her ability to speak, talk, and communicate more clearly.

Her training is for the future and she plans to take full advantage of it.

Future Business Depends on Today's Skills

Clicking typewriters, busy fingers, deep concentration—this is the typing room. Here the girls wage a war against time and human error, as they strive to become proficient typists.

However, girls planning careers in business must develop other skills besides typing. These businesswomen of the future take courses in shorthand, bookkeeping, and general business.

Another part of business education is the realization that qualities such as reliability, self-composure, and courtesy are essential. The importance of these characteristics is emphasized by the Future Business Leaders of America. On the practical side, FBLA members are introduced to business methods and gain practical experience through management of the bookstore and Catholic Chronicle drive.

Thus, McAuleyans have opportunities for becoming well-prepared for life in the world of business.

Not Only Development of the Mind Improvement of Physical Prowess

McAuleyans realize the value of training in their lives. How useless life can be if it is wasted on boredom. But right now there is a positive way of training the mind and body through education.

For many, a language such as Latin and Spanish can be a challenge, along with being fun and practical. Each class finds that presenting the traditional way of life increases the knowledge and understanding of a particular country.

Besides training the mind, training the body is just as important. The necessity for a well-directed athletic program is satisfied at McAuley through exciting indoor and outdoor sports. A spirit of pride is displayed through posters, cheers, and smiles. McAuleyans know that memories are made by the active interest they take in supporting sports activities.

No wonder the girls at McAuley are "up on their toes." They really feel tops—both mentally and physically.

A Student's Mind Is Broadened By Scientific Studies

The word "science" means different things to different individuals. To some, science means their daily work; to others it can be a hobby; still others see science as a hazy cloud of obscurity. To the students at McAuley, science means an interesting break in the daily routine.

Whether standing over a bunsen burner in a lab, or striving, pencil in hand, to figure out a formula, McAuleyans are the picture of budding young scientists.

With so many colleges requiring at least two years of scientific instruction, students have to spend valuable hours in special courses before entrance. Keeping this in mind, McAuley's science teachers try to give their students as much scientific knowledge as possible.

Beginning 'Mid Hustle,

Getting started is always the hardest part of any activity. This holds true as McAuley opens another school year amid hustle and bustle and confusion. Students venture into noisy, crowded locker rooms to fumble with locks and renew old acquaintances. They emerge, carrying towering stacks of books and somewhat prepared to face eight classes all in one morning. Invariably, it seems, everyone loses or at least drops something along the way.

But things aren't really too difficult. The first and biggest hurdle is finding the right class at the right time. Once this great feat has been accomplished, the way is clear, for the teacher takes over. She handles two main activities on the first day: an explanation of the purpose of the course and the assignment of seats (and sometimes of homework). The wise, "all-knowing" upperclassmen accept all these proceedings with a nonchalant air, for they have been indoctrinated with the importance of keeping calm.

On the other hand, there is a group easily identified by "civilian" clothes and bewildered looks. These are the freshmen who often wander about in partial and sometimes total confusion on that day.

When that last bell rings, everyone heaves a sigh of relief, wondering at the same time, where the morning has gone. Students and teachers look forward to less hectic days when studies and tranquility will balance exuberant spirits to form a happy medium compatible with McAuley's ideals.

Down and up, up and down. Oh, for an escalator!

We would like to introduce our "happy" freshmen on their first day—with only 36 weeks to go!

Social Gatherings Promote Unity Among Toledo Students, Classes, Schools

Bird calls, nursery rhymes, and chopsticks greeted the freshmen, and the big sister-little sister party was underway. As in preceding years, each sophomore "adopted" a little sister from the freshman class. This year, girls were paired off according to birthdays, eliminating the usual worry about the way the choice was to be made. The sophomores put on their own version of "Amateur Hour" which helped to break the ice. After the show, the girls became better acquainted over cookies, punch, and a record hop.

"We'll have a hootenanny, hootenanny Saturday night!" It was on Saturday that the McAuley-Notre Dame-St. Ursula Hootenanny was held. Following a cookout, girls from the three schools gathered in the Notre Dame auditorium for a folk-singing festa. In keeping with the words of the song, everyone "hooted" and "hollered" and had a wonderful time. Dave Browning, among other professional folk singers, entertained with his ever-popular ballads. Besides professional songsters, many students displayed their talent by singing well-known folk songs. It was an old-fashioned yet modern evening for the three schools.

Students Launch Terrific Spirit Through Action

An outsider doesn't have to look far to see that there's real team spirit at McAuley. Not only in sports, when the shouts are loudest, but when it comes to the down-to-earth work of the yearly drives, McAuley students are in there rooting.

The Patron Drive initiates McAuleyans into the world of doorbell ringing and sales talks. This activity arouses not only competition but also school spirit, as the girls raise financial backing for the Emerald and the Gilmarian.

Second semester is scarcely underway before those familiar subscription blanks arrive from the Catholic Chronicle office. As each student strives to reach and surpass her quota, she helps to spread the influence of the Catholic press.

June approaching, sales-wise sallies are faced with the most important project of the year—Treasure Hunt. Since this is the school's principal fund-raising activity, everyone lends support—students, parents, teachers, and friends—by selling raffle tickets and setting up and operating booths.

Yes, there's plenty of spirit at McAuley!

Food, food everywhere! In fact, there may not even be room in Dorothy Pely's basket for the contribution Suzanne McGuire is making to the Little Sisters of the Poor.

Senior Play

It's a ghost! Or is it a ghostie? Rapt audiences enjoyed the humor in "The Ghost of Rhodes Manor" plus the mystery of hypnotists, sheriffs, reporters and floating corpses. Intense concentration, gasps, and even occasional screams revealed the seniors' success in presenting their class play.

Directed by Sister Mary Imogene, the three-act play has allowed no one to forget Tillie's "umberell," Glory's fear of "ghosties" or Biddy Haggerty's control of the "situation." Weeks of united effort resulted in a real triumph that the seniors can be justly proud of.

Glory (Marlene Moore), Helen, and Mary Fitzgerald (Kathleen Fahey) make their grand (?) entrance to dear old Rhodes Manor.

Tillie lines up the suspects, Biddy Haggerty (Marilyn Ryan), Glory, Marcia Stone, The Ghost, and Deborah Cass (Marilyn Aubry), as any respectable "depidy" would do

While Mrs. Rhodes (Julie Renz) sleeps peacefully, Tillie Van Winkle (Susan Schemensauer) uses her trusty "umberell" on The Shadow (Kathleen False). Helen isn't so sure about her intentions.

With Ability

"In love of truth." Indeed, McAuleyans follow this, their motto, as they daily seek a fuller knowledge and a deeper understanding of the truth. Their many achievements show that they are not content with the ordinary, the mediocre, but strive for the superior, the best.

Leading the way are the members of the National Honor Society. Chosen on the basis of scholastic ability, leadership, and character, these girls represent McAuley at her best.

Individual girls have excelled throughout the school year. Christine Pollex and Janet Guinsler were spotlighted as outstanding science students. Leslie Wheeler was chosen as school representative at the Atom Conference in Chicago. Four JCWA members did an excellent job at the Quiz Bowl. And lastly, for the third consecutive year McAuley captured the CYO oratorical trophy when Sue Schemenauer won the diocesan contest.

"But, Sister, I don't have any talent!" cried some of the shyer members of the student body when the Mission Variety Show was on the way. Then, through some miracle, the curtain opened on a spectacle of color and comedy

"This Land Is Your Land" presented songs from around the world by native costumed entertainers; the glee club represented a variety of American professions; a spell-bound audience was delighted by music, dance, and dramatic pantomime. Performers and spectators alike were willing to help produce a talented and successful show.

Acts included a "Sympathy" duet by Kathleen Coyle and Margaret Garn, "A Hundred Million Miracles" performed by Joyce Brown, a medley of Broadway hits by Lynnel Dybala and Susan Shaner. Mary Ann and Kathy Osterhage, Kathleen Szkutnik, and Elaine Zwierzychowski presented piano selections, while Sue Siminski, Christine Konczal, Anne Crossgrove, Patricia Whitacre, and Marlene Moore bongoed a Hawaiian "Tumbah."

Retreat Offers Reflection, Prayer

"Who am I and exactly what am I really like deep inside?" These words re-echo in the mind and heart of every girl as she prepares for a few days of close observation of the "inner me."

Retreat—a time of solitude and silence—a time when the invisible halo becomes just a little brighter. A schedule of conferences, rosaries, stations, spiritual reading, and meditation fills her day. Many personal blessings come from the frequent visits to the chapel, where she speaks to her Lord. A storehouse of special graces and spiritual rewards have become hers through the asking.

Whether it be a three day school retreat or a Sodality week-end retreat at our Lady of the Pines, peace and contentment fill the atmosphere.

Father Edmund Way gives the girls some thoughts to ponder and practice.

Merry Activities Ring Out Holiday Cheer

"Joy to the World!" brings with it excitement, anticipation, and a number of pre-holiday activities. Upon the arrival of Advent, McAuleyans participate daily in the wreath ceremony. Getting closer to Christmas, the mission post office goes into operation, giving students an opportunity to send cards and packages to their friends. Queen's Apostolate and Sodality members crown the Infant of Prague in a colorful Christmas ceremony.

Santa doesn't waste time, either, and his expected arrival hurries events along. Visits to hospitals by the Glee Club carolers bring tidings of joy. Good cheer continues to be spread by presenting baskets of food to the Little Sisters of the Poor at the Christmas assembly.

McAuleyans capture the spirit of giving and the true joy of Christmas.

Significant Events Highlight Conclusion of Memorable Senior Year

The music of Pretz Russell floated in the air, and McAuley's seniors drifted onto the dance floor to begin one of the biggest events of the year—the senior prom. Decorations depicted a tropical isle: silver tinsel suspended on the stage around a giant sea shell provided an appropriate background for the orchestra.

After months of preparation, anticipation, and apprehension, the moment arrived—graduation! The seniors' hopes and dreams were realized when Most Reverend George J. Rehring handed each of them that precious diploma. With their best foot forward and hope in their hearts, the girls took another step into the future.

Dancing the night away, Sandra Feyedelam and escort reflect the mood of the evening in their faces.

Junior and senior Emerald reporters have the nose for news at McAuley. Seated are reporters: Barbara Bender, Anne Crossgrove, Judith Nirochi, Suzanne Metzger, Marsha Fry, Linda Frey, Kathleen Bender, Elaine Zwierszchowski, Kathleen Skutnik, and Claudia Berry. Standing are Anne Nally, Catherine Nadeau, Carolyn Karpinski, Linda Nadeau, Margaret Desmond, Joan Feehan, and Susan Cully.

The Emerald owes a lot of its planning to page editors, Susan Endsley, Elaine Jakubowski, Susan English, Carolyn Kruser, Mary Alice Link, and Anne Palans.

Time Becomes Important Word For Staffs

Although "hectic" may describe the action in the journalism room, there is method in the madness.

While girls may "rush and tumble" to beat the deadlines, their frenzied efforts combine to form a complete, unified whole—an issue of the Emerald or the Gilmarian.

The magicians who effect such unity from chaos are four energetic girls known as editors and an advisor, Sister Mary Paula. They use not black magic but organization, and sometimes psychology, to attain their ends.

Such is the case with Susan English and Mary Alice Link, Emerald editors, who must parcel out assignments, suggesting revisions, and co-ordinating copy.

Maryann Tank and Christine Pollex, co-editors of the Gilmarian, are also supported by a group of diligent assistants. Planning, cropping, writing, changing—there's never a dull moment for a yearbook staff member.

copy editor; Janet Wehrmeister typing; Lucile Wayton, typing; Janet Guinsler, copy; Patricia Hickey, index and senior directory; Sharon Sutter, business manager

This is "editors' corner." Emerald co-editors, Mary Alice Link and Susan English, show the latest news flash to Gilmanian co-editors Maryann Tank and Christine Pollex Martha Schaal, Diane Huber, Jacqueline Roman, Kathleen Pollex, and Virginia Morris measure, cut, and remeasure as they crop Gilmanian pictures.

"Bushels of joy" and down-to-earth work make the job a pleasant one for Student Council committee chairmen Paula Clark, Social Committee; Virginia Morris, Booster Committee; Susan Schomannauer, Service Committee.

Student Council Plays Active Part in Civic, Cultural, Social, Educational Life of School

As Congress is the governing body of the nation, the Student Council is the governing body of McAuley. Every member of the student body belongs to this organization and, at the same time, is represented through the Student Advisory Board and Student Executive Board.

The Booster, Service, and Social Committees play a vital role in the Student Council. If an activity needs spirit, the Booster Committee lends a hand. From rousing P.A. announcements to promoting driving competition between homerooms, the Booster Committee spurs the school onto another success.

When tickets are to be sold or ushering to be done, the Service Committee is on the job. These girls are responsible for the "standing-room only" crowds at school-sponsored activities.

The Social Committee takes over the job of providing decorations, music, and refreshments for school dances.

A school is as strong as its student body and, at McAuley, the Student Council has given this strength.

Orator, hostess, leader, Mary Jo Samberg undertakes her responsibilities as president of the Student Council

Vying for queenship in the area Student Council are Paula Clark, Marilyn Aubry, Mary Jo Samberg, Mary Ann Osterhage, Julie Renaux, Karen Treter, Susan Schemonauer, Anne Palans, and Sharon Wannemacher, who was elected as McAuley's representative.

Sportsmanship Builds Character

"C'mon! Put that ol' apple right over the plate!"

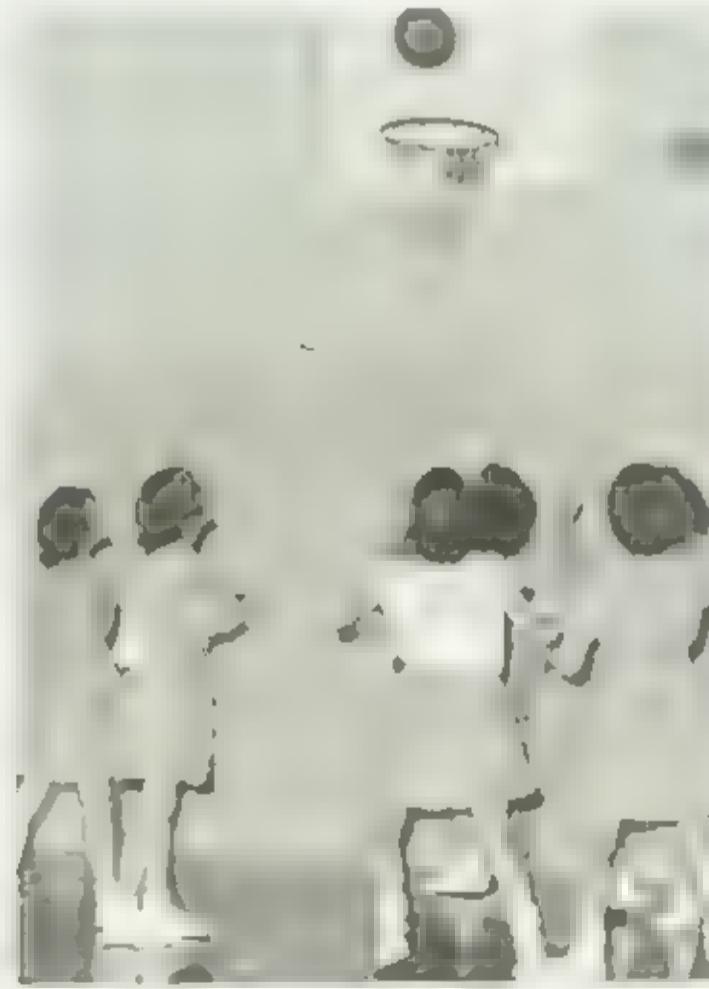

When the weather's pleasant, McAuley's back yard echoes all day with sounds like, "Batter up!" "Strike one!" and "You're OUT!" This means that softball season is open. When winter comes, the Freshmen and Sophomores keep in shape with volleyball and basketball in the gym.

Upperclassmen, too, can participate in year-round sports during intramurals. Games are scheduled between homerooms, and each girl hopes that her room will be the champ.

All students have an opportunity to enjoy swimming at the Catholic Club and bowling at Lido Lanes.

The late President Kennedy's physical fitness program has been adopted at McAuley, under the capable leadership of Mrs. Harold Grolle, physical education instructor.

Will it or won't it? Six underclassmen wait eagerly for the answer.

Has OUR Marilyn Ryan struck out? Apparently, her determination just didn't come across this time.

McAuley's "stadium" is the scene of some really professional-looking softball in the spring.

Is it a hit, run, or an error? The burlap-clad Seniors of 105 appear a little bewildered. Even poor Dino is stunned when those Juniors start running!!

Easy does it as Christine Pollex sets the ball up for the first row.

It's going to take some "oomph" to get that ball over and Joan Feehan has it if anyone has!

Key Gross, Andrea Misejka, Cecilia Shriver, and Linda Landowski want to make sure Kathleen Pollex won't make the next basket

The volleyball Play Day for Ursuline and McAuley brought teamwork 'nud competition.

What form, as Lisa Ivancic whizzes the ol' ball down the alley?

Beth Paone, Margaret Creque, Judith Babel and girls from St. Ursula cheer from the sidelines.

'Isle of Capri'

Fascinates Visitors

Pirates, shipmates, and booty galore turned McAuley into a Treasure house of fun and excitement! The annual fund raising "hunt" captured an "Isle of Capri" theme that provided mystery and plenty of adventure.

For the first time, a Treasure Hunt queen was crowned. Aline Clark and her attendants reigned in royal majesty for a day, making the rounds of the booths and smiling for the cameramen.

Their classmates had a big part in the day, too. Freshmen sponsored an exotic Fishing Lagoon; Sophomores, a ship-shape eating place, Peg Leg's Pantry; Juniors, the Animal Jungle; and Seniors, a frightening Bear Pit.

Merchants raffle their wares as the hopeful crowd wanders from booth to booth trying its luck

Regal wishes come true for queen Aline Clark and attendants, Kathleen Carroll, Maureen Degan, and Patricia Whitacre. Mr. Paul Sepic bestows the honors.

"Grrr!" Animals in the Junior booth aren't really ferocious, but don't trust them too far

Drowning in a sea of teddy bears, Mrs. Donald Feehan and Mrs. Oliver Lones struggle to help the Seniors get ready for the big day on which a lucky throw of a dime can win a cuddly panda.

Approaching the "Landing Dock" of the Isle of Capri, "travelers" find a treasure chest of riches taken from the deep, or are they really found in the depths of the art department?

"Hail, Virgin Dearest Mother, Our Lovely Queen of May." Michelle Jasin places the garland of flowers on Our Lady's statue, assisted by Marcia Wiley, Marilyn Aubry, and Susan Schemenauer

At the grotto of Our Lady of the Pines, retreatants Catherine Gradel and Kathleen Faile stop for a prayer.

Sodalists Strive For Holiness In Daily Living

"To Jesus through Mary" is the motto which inspires each Sodalist to perform all her daily activities with perfection. Many of these are big events on her spiritual calendar. Among them are the presentation of the Sodality medals on November 21, the annual closed week-end retreat at Our Lady of the Pines, the colorful and inspiring May crowning ceremony, and finally the fun-filled picnic at the Pines.

In future years, the Sodalist will look back upon these activities as a major step in bringing her closer to her Queen, Mary.

One, two, three — pour!!! Lynne Miller appreciates the sudden solicitude of fellow Sodalists, Paula Clark, Mary Overman, and Carmelina Cooper

'Live' Projects Arouse Interest At Any Age

Experiments, old and new, reigned supreme at McAuley's Science Day, February 21. Although the "pre-judging jitters" were a common plague among all participants, the rewards were great.

Forty-nine students who rated in the superior and excellent category were eligible to go on to the District Science Fair at Bowling Green State University.

This year's projects represented the fields of biology, math, and chemistry. The biology field was subdivided into the areas of bacteriology, zoology, botany, and physiology.

McAuley's second year BSCS (Biological Science Curriculum Study) program was of interest to many Toledoans at this year's fair, as this was the only school in the area offering the advanced biology course. BSCS places emphasis on the study of "living" organisms, as shown in the pictures here.

Lynne Geoffrion isn't really practicing medicine without a license. Since it's all a part of Science Day, Chantel Kay will put up with most anything.

Sue Ann Lones seems to have all that's necessary when it comes to working with hornets — confidence.

"C'mon, kids, lunch time!" Sharon Wayton's guinea pigs fight over that one and only carrot.

Karen Csengeri speaks by candlelight at the Junior Classical League induction ceremony. Barbara Beckman, Joan Watkins, and Alison Sneider are duly impressed.

Rebecca Dent does a pebble mosaic of Roman costumes and Sharon Wayton takes pride in her Roman head carved in relief.

Junior Classical Ancient Roman 'Via' Exhibits,

"When you're in Rome, do as the Romans do."

Perhaps McAuley Latin students aren't in Rome, but that doesn't dampen their eagerness for adding a touch of Roman culture to their lives. Whether visiting Greek and Roman exhibits at the Art Museum or celebrating the Roman Christmas, Saturnalia, Latin students are enthusiastic. By belonging to the Junior Classical League, their primary interest is the study and appreciation of the culture of these ancient nations.

JCL members have adopted many ancient customs in their own procedures. In doing so they gain a clearer understanding of the background of Roman life. Older members enjoy purchasing Freshman slaves who are later freed. On this day, Latin students are seen around the school in Roman "originals." Excitement precedes the appearance of four "Spirits" who inspire new members on Initiation Day. The biggest affair, the Spectaculum Latinum, brings a variety of original creations, from Roman forums to gayly colored togas.

League Brings Days to Life

Dress, Activities

As the year ends, Latin students are richer and wiser in the culture of an admired people.

The shame of it! Catherine Olszanski has just been auctioned as a slave by Joan Watkins. Anxious slave-drivers are Bonita Ferguson, Karen Griffith, Larena Murphy, Carol Willie, Carole Grindle and Marcia Fehlen.

Just a little bit different! Judith Sheldon, Kathleen Polley and Carole Grindle reproduce a Roman tavern for "Latina Spectacula."

It's Saturnalia, the annual Roman Christmas celebration, for Nancy Lewandowski, Sandra Hertzfeld, Linda Konczal, Susan Toerne, Jean Resig, Elizabeth Cooksey, Carol Finnegan, Kathleen Endsley, Alison Sneider, Ann Ninneman, and Carol Willie.

Working diligently, Diane Huber puts the finishing touches on the decorations for "Fly Me to the Moon."

Sisters Susan and Jean Feehan add glamour and sparkle to decorations for the dance.

Could it be at all possible that Charles Pennock and Michael Buczek might be flying their dates, Judith Skeldon and Susan Yoe, to the moon?

'Fly Me to the Moon' Puts Year into Orbit

Hushed whispers, music floating through the air, and the gentle rustling of dresses echo through McAuley's auditorium. A girl's world is filled with space rockets and glittering golden stars as McAuley has her first Student Council dance of the year. Its theme is "Fly Me to the Moon" which is an apt title, for it is just the feeling a girl gets as she dances her way through a star-studded evening. Good music and much laughter complete the space-age evening, one that is long in the memories of a McAuleyan.

Susan Siminski, glee club accompanist, has become a very necessary part of McAuley's music department

McAuley Presents: A Wonderful World Of Music

If a girl likes to sing and to brighten up school activities, she belongs in McAuley's glee club.

Under the direction of Sister Mary Imogene, glee club members enjoy a number of important experiences, from learning to use the diaphragm correctly to singing "Silent Night" in the hospital corridors at Christmas time.

If a girl's musical talent lies in another direction, she can turn to the band and, with the help of Sister Mary Imogene, provide music for school assemblies and programs.

Because of an outstanding music department, McAuleyans appreciate good music—"the prophet's art; among the gifts that God has sent, one of the most magnificent." Longfellow

You Can't Go Wrong...

Nobody should ever consider his education complete. You can't go wrong by getting as much schooling as possible. So strongly does Toledo Edison feel about this that we finance three scholarships a year at the University of Toledo.

Lots of college graduates find Toledo Edison a good place to work. Investor-owned electric companies offer interesting careers in many fields. You might want to look into this.

What a wonderful Open World

MADE IN U.S.A.

THE QUALITY MARK TO LOOK FOR

Have you noticed schools like this on your travels? Probably, because new buildings are springing up everywhere. They are beautiful and functional structures with large glass areas to create an "open-world" atmosphere to eliminate the feeling of being boxed in.

Wherever you live, work, shop or travel, you'll find L-O-F Glass making it more enjoyable. In homes, motels, schools and stores. In offices and factories. In hospitals and churches. In cars, buses, trains and planes.

There's an L-O-F Glass that insulates windows. It's called Thermopane® insulating glass. Another subdues sun heat and glare. L-O-F Glass that makes automobiles safer. L-O-F Glass to do a thousand things.

And when anyone needs glass, there's an authority on it nearby—your local independent L-O-F Glass Distributor or Dealer. His name is in the telephone book Yellow Pages under "Glass". Call him.

Laboratories, shops and studyrooms are separated from twin classroom buildings by a broad, central court. Ithaca Senior High School, Ithaca, N.Y. Architects: Perkins & Will, White Plains, N.Y.

Truth Survives Time

The light of truth has shone the world over since time began. Man has always instinctively searched and fought for truth. The ancient philosophers tried to explain the mysteries of life and man's purpose here on earth. Mathematicians have searched for the correct answer to a problem with numbers and formulas. Columbus sought to prove the truth he believed—that the earth was round.

In some cases man has even died for the truth, as did the early Christians. Our country was founded on the principle that "all men are created equal and are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights." Our government has upheld these ideals and during two world wars has sent men to fight and even to die for our idea of freedom.

As the pursuit of truth continues, the Gilmarian also endures. While the light of truth grows brighter, the Gilmarian shines forth as a tiny beam in that brightness.

Dear Sister Tatima,
I thank you for the two years you spent putting up with someone like me. Tatia's bark not bit it was also fun.
Next year.

Dear Sister Tatima, Your student,
I'd write this in later
but I don't have enough time!

I just want to say thanks a lot for the two years of Tatia.
matter what anyone says I enjoyed it.

Dear Sister
Hasn't night been fun?? I'll be so glad to get rid of her though. I'll be miss not having you next year. I'll be just another beauty just
God Bless you
Many thanks

Sister Tatima
Your class
has provided stem.

Dear Sister Tatima
Thank you for everything.
I promise to say it. I'll always be loyal to you. I am not to say Tatia is something not to write an easy one but teacher all I ever I can do anything for you just yell! I'll probably think in with people.
I hope I can. Thanks. I'll never ask that question
as you never ask you as you forgot me not
